Dear Dr. Vardy:

Thank you for being so generous as to have allowed me to spend time observing you "in action" this afternoon at your office.

Your vision of a home/office appears to be an unqualified success. I, for one, certainly was made to feel very much "at home" and I appreciated your hospitality. Everyone I had the opportunity to meet today was nice, friendly, helpful, and warm.

Among other things, today I learned why your name has seemed particularly familiar to me. As an avid reader of The New York Times, I am sure that I spotted the article in which you were featured when it was first printed. You must feel honored that your accomplishments have been so recognized.

Thank you for an excellent opportunity for me to broaden my educational experience today. I am very grateful to you, admire your talents, and hope to learn more from you in the future.

Sincerely,

Douglas Pollack, D.D.S.
